

The National Association of Hispanic Publications Celebrates 41 Years of Leading the Industry

By Kirk Whisler

In 1982, when the National Association of Hispanic Publications was founded, none of us could have imagined how much media would have evolved over the decades. Today we can reach more people in more effective ways and in less time than we could have ever dreamed of. That is what the 2023 NAHP Convention is all about. How do publishers and editors channel all the power and reach they can have.

The NAHP Board and others in the industry have worked hard to bring the leading experts in this print to digital evolution and help expose NAHP to ways for them to both successfully maintain their newspapers and magazines AND increase their reach through the various digital avenues. Over the last few years this leadership has helped the NAHP grow to represent over 760 Latino media outlets which are used weekly by over 15 million Latino readers nationwide.

The conference had many highlights including the selection of Lety Garcia of Prensa Arizona as Latina Publisher of the Year; Jesús Del Toro of La Raza as Latino Publisher of the Year; a special video from Mexican President Candidate Xóchitl Gálvez; Idelfonso Guajardo, former Mexican Minister of the Economy; and Mexican member of Congress Nora Oranday, who started her career as an editor for the late NAHP Zeke Montes. Alvaro Gurdíán was re-elected as NAHP President, Iván Adaime as Vice President, Pedro de Armas as VP Membership, Will Medina as VP of Marketing, Ricardo Hurtado as VP of Sales, and Evelyn Castro as Secretary. José Zepeda Jr becomes the NAHP Treasurer and Ruben Alvarez advanced to become the Region 7 Rep. The many workshops included insights from Press Forward, Transformation Tech, Future Proofing Local Media, How to Educate & Activate the Local Latino Community, Government Advertising & Local Government, and Using Research to Grow Your Publication.

Sponsors of the Conference included Wells Fargo, Google News Initiative, Libre Initiative, Chase Bank, PopMount, and NAHP Media. The was full of great workshops, wonderful speakers, and, of course, the NAHP's José Martí Awards. Now for more on the Awards:
